Investment Manager's Comment

February was another bad month for the Spectravest Fund, as the gap between momentum stocks and quality stocks widened once again. Accordingly, we were very active with our "shopping list" containing as many attractively valued stocks as it last did in 2020/2021. We sold BP and Reckitt Benckiser from the portfolio, both of which were trading close to our fair values, as well as Kitwave Group, which was trading 30% higher following a takeover bid. Paypal was also removed after we had to revise our fair value downward and found more exciting alternatives. We reinvested the proceeds from the sales in Betsson, a Swedish online gambling provider, Pluxee, which provides employee benefits programs, Relx, a British database operator, and Amadeus IT Group, a Madrid-based IT solutions company for the travel industry.
